THREE GALA DAYS

Semicentennial of Loyal War Governors' Conference

AT ALTOONA NEXT WEEK

Company L and Bedford Lodge K. of P. Will Participate in Parades on Wednesday and Thursday.

The semicentennial of the loyal war governors' conference to be celebrated in Altoona next week will be a celebration of grandeur, pomp and splendor, one that will reflect credit not only on the city, but the state and nation. It is in commemoration of one of the most important events of the civil war, in which Andrew Gregg Curtin, Pennsylvania's war governor, and thirteen other state executives played a prominent part, and their action to give their united support to President Abraham Lincoln at one of the darkest periods of the strife between the north and south proved the turning point of the war and terminated in the preservation of the Union.

President Taft and members of his cabinet have stamped the celebration with their approval. Senators and Congressmen have lent their aid toward its success, and Governor John K. Tener and other state officials have joined with the people of Altoona in planning to celebrate the famous historical event in the most fitting manner. The little spark of patriotism that marked the beginning of the plans for commemorating the meeting of war governors in the old Logan House in Altoona has been fanned to a mighty blaze of ardor and enthusiasm among Altoona's people to heap more glory to the memory of the immortal Lincoln, to Pennsylvania's loyal statesman, Curtin, and to the men that answered his call for a rally to maintain the Union.

President Taft and members of his cabinet have accepted invitations to attend. Senators and Congressmen have signified their intentions of participating in the celebration. Governor John K. Tener has officially invited the Governors of the forty-seven other states, and many have accepted.

The festivities of the celebration will be stretched out over three days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—but the entire week will be one of holiday pleasure and enjoyment. The program makers labored to delight and entertain all, and with their work completed it can be said that the celebration will be one of the greatest and most interesting in the history of the state. It includes patriotic civic and carnival festivities, and they begin on the opening day, at noon Tuesday. The first day will be home coming day, when a welcome will be extended to all returning sons and daughters and to all visitors. A salute of twenty-one guns will be the opener of the celebration.

During the afternoon there will be an automobile parade of a thousand or more cars elaborately decorated and decked out to represent various figures. Automobiles from the city and from within a radius of a hundred miles around will participate. In the early evening there will be band concerts in various sections of the city, while a patriotic carnival will be held at a big tented auditorium seating more than 10,000 people. It will include tableaux representing various phases of the famous governors' conference and incidents of the Civil War, a series of patriotic drills and "folk" dances by several hundred children. All will be to music by bands and a specially organized orchestra of forty members. The night will end with a great dance in the auditorium, the platform of which will accommodate 1,000 couples.

President's and Governors' day will be celebrated Wednesday, September 25. It will be the big day of the celebration with festivities beginning at daybreak and continuing throughout the day. The first big event of the day will be the parade of the military and schools. President Taft and Governor Tener and his guests, the Governors of other states, will view the pageant which will be headed by the world's famous United States Marine Band of Washington. Possibly for the first time in its history this "pet" musical organization of the government will march at the head of a parade not under the direct supervision of the government. In the military division will be detachments of the United States army, representing the various branches of the service. There will be state troops, a troop of the state constabulary, grand army veterans from all sections of the state and country, veterans of the Spanish-American War and others who have seen or are in the service of the country. ## HITS MOOSE TRAIL

Roosevelt Trust Control Theories Riddled by

GOV. WOODROW WILSON

Minneapolis Turns Out 50,000 to Greet Him and St. Paul Increased the Number Ten Thousand.

St. Paul, September 18.—Crossing the trail of the Bull Moose today for the first time in the campaign, Governor Woodrow Wilson, whirled through a lively program of speeches, receptions and personal greetings in the Twin-Cities of Minnesota, and when he left tonight for Chicago declared he was much pleased with the results of the day.

When the Wilson party reached Minneapolis this morning the Commercial Club had breakfast ready, and the Governor talked 20 minutes on the Trusts and big business. Then motoring to the University of Minnesota he passed crowds of school children, who waved flags and cheered. His speech at the University was brief, and was rather of college life than of politics. Later, at the parade ground in the city of Minneapolis, he made his principal speech of the day, deprecating personal issues in the campaign and exposing the fallacies of the Progressive theory of Trust control. Tonight, at St. Paul, he addressed an immense crowd in the Auditorium.

Twin Cities Vie to Honor Him

The two towns striving in good-natured rivalry for commercial supremacy of the great Northwest treated him very nicely. Each gave a fine exhibition of free and open-handed hospitality. Minneapolis turned out 3,000 people to cheer him as he left his car in the morning, and they turned out 50,000 strong to line the streets as he left in a motor car in the mid-afternoon for St. Paul.

St. Paul received him with a band, mounted police, motor cars and double the number of distinguished men as the other town had sent. More than 60,000 people lined the streets and filled the windows of business houses in St. Paul's principal streets.

Minnesota's Republican stand-pat Governor had a look at him from the window of the attractive capitol. James J. Hill, the big man of the Northwest, looked at him from the window of his big railway building.

Of the two towns the State capital was a shade the most cordial. Men and women in the St. Paul streets lifted their hats to him and shouted out friendly greetings, which he acknowledged by lifting his hat with dignified courtesy. No one called him "Woody," as did some of the South Dakota cowboys yesterday. But they did greet him as "Governor Wilson" and the "next President."

Urges Courage of Convictions

At the Minneapolis depot there were 300 hungry men, because the

WASHINGTON LETTER

Communication From Correspondent at National Capital

REPUBLICANS FOR WILSON

How Woolen Magnates "Protect" Their Employees - Democrats United in Vermont.

Washington, September 16.—Further evidence of how the multi-millionaire woolen trust magnates "protect" their employees in return for sufficient protection to allow them to overcharge 90,000,000 American consumers on every article of clothing they buy, is revealed in the arrest at Lawrence, Mass., of William M. Wood, head of the Woolen Trust.

Mr. Wood is charged with placing dynamite in the homes of $5, $8 and $7 a week foreign millworkers in an attempt to discredit their cause while they were on a strike last winter as a protest against a reduction of wages.

Mr. Wood's arrest is worthy of the attention of every man, woman and child in the country who wears woollens. Because of the fact that Mr. Wood and his fellow woolen trust magnates contribute heavily to Republican campaign funds, Congress has been in the habit of placing the tariff on woollens high enough to keep out all competitors, so that the woolen trust could be free to charge any price they desired, up to the limit of the ability of the people to pay. The result is that Americans are paying from thirty to one hundred per cent. more for woolen clothing and blankets than the resident of Great Britain pay.

The story of the career of Mr. Wood provides a curious paradox. He is the oppressor of 150,000 miserable New England textile workers; a few years ago he was one of them. In his youth he felt the sting of hunger himself, but now he is pitiless in his thoughts of his employees. He has grown enormously rich, but declares that from $4 to $9 a week is enough for those who labor in his mills.

It is said of many captains of industry that they are ignorant of the conditions of the workers who earn their fortunes for them; that if they knew the distress of their employees they would seek to remedy it. Not so with Wood. He knows. Their distress he sees. Their cries he hears.

Wood's father was a Portuguese-Jew emigrant. He labored in a cotton mill and died of tuberculosis, a disease common to cotton and wool spinners. The father's name is believed to have been Alphonse LeHair, or LeVair.

When the woolen mill employees, which are composed of 42 different nationalities, most of whom cannot speak in English, went on a strike the fathers and mothers decided to send their babes and little children away to friends in other cities in order that they might not suffer from hunger during the strike. Mr. Wood's agents beat the women, and tore the little ones from their mothers' arms when the children were about to be placed on trains. Thus did Mr. Wood "Protect" his employees.

Are the American people willing to continue to contribute to Mr. Wood by paying more for shoddy than good woolen clothing sells for in England? Or do they want the tariff on woollens reduced? There is only one day every two years when the consumers have an opportunity to express themselves on this subject. That day comes on November 5.

Republicans for Wilson

Thousands of progressive Republicans will vote for the Democratic nominee for the Presidency, in the opinion of Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco, close friend of Senator LaFollette and long prominent in the Republican party of California.

"I have given many years of my time and support to the progressive Republican cause and to honest effort to eliminate political bosses and bring about the establishment of a just and truly representative government, and shall continue to make that fight within my party; but I feel it my duty to support Governor Wilson at the coming election, believing it to be the only proper course left open for one who is sincerely interested in the establishment of progressive legislation in our nation at the earliest moment.

"Today I held a conference with Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who stands out as the foremost figure in this nation as a protector of the lives and health of our children, and he informs me that he is opposed to the

$3.50 RECIPE FREE, FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3584 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain, ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

election of either President Taft or Theodore Roosevelt, because both failed during their administrations to properly support the fight against the rich manufacturers of harmful foods and drugs."

Roosevelt Overlooks Himself

Mr. Roosevelt declares that Barnes, Penrose and Guggenheim work hand in hand with the big interests. This is all true. How about Mr. Roosevelt himself?

It was not at the solicitation of Barnes and Penrose and Guggenheim that Edward H. Harriman raised a political corruption fund of $260,000. It was at the solicitation of Theodore Roosevelt.

It was not Barnes and Penrose and Guggenheim who failed to bring the machinery of the law into play to send George W. Perkins to the penitentiary for violating the Sherman Law in organizing the illegal harvest trust, and who then accepted Perkins' millions to run for a third term for President. That was Theodore Roosevelt.

Speaking of Remark

After all, the real significance of the vote in Vermont recently was not the size of the Bull Moose vote or the heavy inroads it made into the regular Republican vote, but the splendid showing made by the Democrats, who, in round figures, increased their strength from 16,000 in 1908 to 20,350 in 1912. This means that the party not only stood solid as a rock, absolutely united, but it drew to itself a large Republican vote.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Mrs. J. N. Hill, Homer, Ga., has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years, and says she always recommends it to her friends. "It never fails to cure our coughs and colds and prevents croup. We have five children and always give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for a cold, and they are all soon well. We would not be without it in our house." Ed. D. Heckerman.

Devices Used to Create Inside Football

Each season witnesses new contrivances which are used as aids to the mentors in helping to ground their charges in the rudiments of football.

Two new ones, the "bucking strap" and the "charging fence," are described with illustrations in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine. The former consists of two parallel pieces of leather or canvas, connecting two stretches of rope. The square, formed by the leathers and the ropes, is large enough to allow the head of the player to enter and at the same time small enough to check the forward progress of the shoulders. The ball is passed to a back who plunges forward, but instead of ducking his head and simply "bucking," the player is forced to keep his eyes up, lest a slight movement of the ropes, held at each end by other players, will mean the driving of his head solidly against the leathers, instead of going through the square.

The object of this device is to teach backs to "pick a hole" when they are called upon to carry the ball through an opposing line, instead of going blindly into a mass of players.

The charging fence is simply a loose pole between two uprights. The posts are about four yards apart and under the cross-bar two lines of candidates for the forward positions are pitted against each other.

The fence is considered the last word in drilling linemen to charge low.

HECKERMAN LETTER

Business Booming—Crops Large—Parcels Jost—Jewish New Year. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., September 17.

Despite the fact that a Presidential campaign confronts us and is even in progress, with all the unsettled influences, which at all times have been injected into the same, it is mighty gratifying to note that this year those things which have heretofore done business so much harm, have cut no figure this fall and business is booming just the same. There is a demand from all sections for labor. Southern cotton pickers are in great demand and in this iron and coal section it is just the same, and the man or woman who stands idly by do so of their own will and accord. Why, I saw mentioned somewhere quite recently that laborers in the Panama Canal region are being paid 60 cents an hour for common labor. All this proves to the writer that there is nothing at all alarming in the Presidential contest.

The manufacturer is as busy as a bee in a tar barrel and I doubt if any of them can fill their orders promptly. This is a daily complaint to me at least.

The merchants are all busy notwithstanding the high cost of everything, which they sell. We may well and truthfully say that the business boom has come to stay and is hourly gathering steam.

Fight money is, however, acting as a brake in the great money centers. This is brought about by the politicians here and there throwing stones on the track. The boom looks to me as if it is going to stick to the rails and move on at a rapid gait. The optimist can paint out many inspiring developments. Crops are large and will exceed any and all ever produced in a single year in any land on God's green earth.

We are told that Europe will have to come here and buy our cereals, as her own crops are very disappointing. Our own country flowing with milk and honey will be enabled to liquidate its indebtedness to foreign bankers. The various industries are vying with each other in the progress they are making and this is true in the peanut biz. Never in the writer's mind was the inquiry for goods of various kinds so great and never was it so easy to sell P-Nuts and P-Nut products as at the present time. I am told that the manufacturers who are supplying the industries with whatever they need are swamped with orders.

I have been reading of the new parcels post and oh, won't there be fun in it all? Your poultry fanciers can ship their chicks by mail. The post office department has construed the portion of the law which permits farm products to be sent by mail to include live stock which will make it possible for Shorty Wagner and many others to take advantage of the postal facilities and ship newly hatched chicks to patrons. As the limit of the package is eleven pounds, it will be impossible for farmers raising calves or lambs to utilize the mails in sending their products away, but Shorty will find it to be of great advantage, unless the present rendition of the law is changed.

Many poultry raisers pay but little attention to hatching chicks, depending almost entirely on the man who manipulates the incubator. The number of baby chicks sold annually in this market, or rather in this country, is enormous. Some say two hundred million. Gee, what a lot of eggs it does take! What plans or arrangements for the transportation of chickens or any other live stock through the mails is to be seen? Of course, some other way must be devised other than the old leather bag. There is no telling what the inventive genius of the post office department may bring out, but to the writer, it looks as if the transportation of eggs, chicks and other farm products is going to be very expensive for Uncle Sam.

The advent of the Jewish new year last Wednesday evening at sundown was most generally observed by all the Jews in both Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, as well as in the surrounding towns. Special services were held in all the synagogues and other appropriate exercises were conducted. The men all had on their best whilst the ladies appeared in the finest tatty wardrobe could trot out, and I tell you there were many dandy lookers on the streets.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday seemed to paralyze my business, but I trotted out and found other men who bought P-Nuts and P-Nut products. The atonement is a week or ten days. Mose once told me, after new year's. This is the most sacred of all their holidays and the faithful from all sides come to the parental roof and many a family reunion takes place. I had lots of my friends grasp me by the hand and say happy new year.

Please send me the paper to Windsor Hotel, Philadelphia, and oblige.

Yours truly,
M. P. Heckerman.

MONEY BACK CATARRH REMEDY

Dosing the stomach won't kill Catarrh germs. Neither will sprays, douches, snuffs or ointments.

The quickest way to kill germs is to breathe deep into the lungs the vaporized air of Booth's HYOMEI.

As this antiseptic air passes over the sore spots infested with Catarrh germs, it not only destroys them, but heals the inflamed membrane and stops the discharge of mucus.

Then hawking, spitting, snuffling, crusts in nose and foul breath will disappear, and vile, disgusting Catarrh will be conquered.

A complete HYOMEI outfit, which includes a hard rubber inhaler, only costs $1.00. Extra bottles, if afterwards needed, 50c; and F. W. Jordan is authorized to refund your money if dissatisfied.

25,000 O. A. B. C. MEN IN GREAT PROCESSION

One of the Big Events at the State Sunday School Convention.

The wearing of a button or coat lapel pin to represent an order or an organization is now a world-wide custom. Among the many designs now being worn the one of the red circle with a white center is found in practically every city, town, village, hamlet and in the country places. The button represents the O. A. B. C. movement, the initials meaning Organized Adult Bible Class. Wherever there are Sunday Schools this emblem will be found.

Pennsylvania stands at the forefront of the movement in the number of organized classes, and also in class membership. These classes are for men and women, but the majority of them in Pennsylvania are made up entirely of men. The total number of all classes in the United States and Canada now numbers 31,221, of which over 5,200 are located in Pennsylvania.

The representatives of these classes are planning a great demonstration to be held in connection with the Jubilee State Sunday School Convention, to be held in Philadelphia, October 8th to 11th.

Thursday, October 10th, will be recognized as O. A. B. C. Day, and many of the county organizations are planning one and two day excursions for the occasion. The demonstration will wind up with a great men's parade. The committee in charge say there will be 25,000 men in line. The classes participating will have transparencies, banners, floats, and illuminated designs all as a testimony to the worth of Bible study.

Following the parade there will be a great open air meeting on the City Hall Plaza. A reviewing stand will be erected for the Mayor of the city and invited guests. At this stand the bands of music participating in the parade will be massed and many stirring march hymns of the church will be played.

A stereopticon also will be used to show some of the large Bible Classes of the state. Mr. W. D. Stem, State O. A. B. C. Field Superintendent for the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, with headquarters in the Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia, says the demonstration will be the greatest of its kind ever held.

$80,000,000.00 Lost Annually By Wage Earners

Dr. Sadler estimates that about $80,000,000.00 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. It will stop the cough, and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Ed. D. Heckerman.

ENGLISH INN NAMES.

Some of Them Are as Quaint as Their Origins Are Queer.

Many explanations have been given of curious signboards for inns. The Goat and Compasses is supposed to be a corruption of a motto set over inns during the Puritan period, "Good en compasses us." Bag of Nails of "Bacchanals." Why Not and Dewdrop inn are described as invitations to the wayfarer; Bird in Hand and Last House, or Final, suggestions that he should not waste his opportunities to imbibe.

The Bull and Mouth is said to be a corruption of Boulogne Mouth, captured by Henry VIII. Bull and Gate, it is suggested, may possible be a similitude for Boulogne Gate.

Great battles fought and fortresses taken are commemorated by Gibraltar Waterloo, Battle of the Nile, and Trafalgar. Admirals range from Blake to Napier, generals from Marlborough to Wolsley, Wellington, Nelson and Keipel being the most common.

It is surprising how many of the Nelson inns are buildings three or four centuries old, "showing that the inn keeper was prepared to sacrifice the sign under which he had hitherto done business and trusted to make a new reputation under the aegis of the popular hero."—Westminster Gazette.

SYRIA'S HUGE MONOLITH.

Largest Stone Ever Quarried is a Relic of Antiquity.

One of the most interesting proofs of the wonderful civilization of the ancients is afforded by the great slab of stone at Baalbec, in Syria. This huge monolith is sixty-nine feet long, fourteen feet broad and seventeen feet in depth. It is said to be the largest piece of stone ever quarried and its estimated weight is 1,500 tons.

It is thought by archaeological scholars that this huge stone was intended by the ancient builders to adorn the Temple of the Sun near by—now, of course, in ruins. Here in one of the walls which still stand are to be seen huge slabs of stone, which careful measurements show to be sixty-three feet long and thirteen feet high.

And, more remarkable still, they are placed in position nineteen feet above the ground level. Moreover, although no sign of any cementing mixture is to be found in these ancient buildings, the stones have been squared and polished so evenly that only after the most minute search can the joints be found and when traced it is impossible to thrust the blade of a pocket knife between them!

How these things were done is a standing mystery to the scientist—Wide World Magazine.

THROWING THE DISCUS.

Methods of the Grecian Athletes in Homeric Times.

Discus throwing was a refined form of hurling the stone. In Homeric times, and even at Olympia, a stone or mass of iron was first used for the purpose. This was held by a leathern thong, swung in a circle and hurled as far as possible. A circular or lenticular disk of bronze was used at least as early as the beginning of the fifth century.

A standard weight must, of course, be assumed for the great games. A discus now in the British museum, which seems to have been used, weighs 11 pounds 9 ounces, but whether this was the standard weight or not is not definitely known.

The thrower took his stand upon a slight elevation of limited circumference, where he could have a secure foothold and was prevented from running. Then, with a swing of the arm and a corresponding movement of the whole body, he hurled the discus as far as possible.

The value of the body movement was recognized by the sculptor Myron in his famous statue, "The Discobolus," and is understood by the modern athlete when he swings the hammer or even when he makes a drive at golf.

The Guest House in Asia Minor.

The guest house is a real institution in Asia Minor. It is sometimes owned by an individual, but is usually the common property of the village. To this guest house, like the travelers' bungalow in India, every traveler has a right, but as all have the same rights one may have more company than he desires. However, the head man of the village will usually arrange matters for the foreign traveler, and the native guest will often courteously make way for him. In the guest house is one large room, in one part of which our horses munch their hay, with the drivers lying beside them, while in the other part we spread our rugs and set up our beds and unlumber our cooking apparatus. Some guest houses have two rooms connected by a wide opening, without a door, in one of which the animals and animal drivers sleep and in the other the pampered guests from abroad.—Dr. Francis E. Clark in National Magazine.

Proposed by Accident.

Mr. Spooner, the clergyman who became famous for those humorous misplacements of initial consonants has become known as "Spoonerisms," is said to have owed his marriage to a characteristic slip of the tongue. He was very shy and would never have had the courage to ask a woman to be his wife, but one afternoon in a friend's drawing room he was requested to ask one of the ladies present to make tea. In doing so he blundered as usual. "Will you take me?" he said, instead of "Will you make tea?" Blushing, the lady "took him," and thus he "blundered" into a happy marriage.

Evident.

"This car," said the demonstrator, "is almost human. Perhaps you have noticed?"

"Yes, I have," said Binks dryly. "It reminds me of several men I know—been smoking ever since we left the garage, and the last hill we climbed it puffed like a porpoise. Haven't you something that is less human and more generally satisfactory?"—Harper's Weekly

Why She Thought So.

"Mamma," said the little girl, "sister doesn't tell the truth."

"Why, Jennie," said the mother, "you mustn't say such things."

"Well, last night I heard her say, 'Charlie, if you do that again I'll call mamma.' And he did it twice more and she didn't call."—Ladies' Home Journal.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly and herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty-cents and one-dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, absolutely free. When writing be sure and mention the Bedford Gazette. Aug. 30-4t.

Iron and Steel News From Its Source

Pittsburgh is the center of the iron and steel industry of the world, and as the source of all the news of that enormous trade it is naturally the place to refer to for all information. One would think that one of the chief departments of the Pittsburgh morning newspapers should be devoted to the city's chief industry. Yet the only daily that conducts such a department is The Pittsburgh Post—more evidence of its superiority and its progressive character.

The "Iron and Steel Market" department of The Post is a fairly recent institution, but it has already demonstrated its merit so decisively that business men are beginning to consider it indispensable. The Iron and Steel Market editor, F. C. Wilkes, knows the industry and the markets thoroughly. Each day he comments on the trend of the price movements. Pittsburgh Iron and Steel prices are quoted daily, revised to the minute.

Keep yourself posted on the activity of the Iron and Steel Market right from the source. Give The Post a trial, and you will immediately recognize the value of this feature.

Mr. C. A. ABBOTT, August 11, 1909.

Dear Sir: I have known for over 40 years of the effects of Wilson's Remedy (Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Biotin) in cases of pulmonary troubles. At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of; that 42 years since, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was a consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not recover. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy, which I used with splendid effect. I have been on my feet and a work ever since my cure. Yours truly,
REV. CHAS. SAGER,
Pastor M. E. Church, Hunter, (Greene Co.) N. Y.

The above letter shows what a great boon the Wilson Remedy was to Mr. Sager, but it is but one of thousands received testifying to the curative powers of this wonderful remedy. Write at once to Mr. Abbott at the above address and he will furnish you convincing proof of the great worth to humanity of this preparation.

PARTIALLY ANSWERED

On October 1, 1904, the New York World addressed to Theodore Roosevelt the following questions, which, since that time have frequently been repeated:

1. How much has the Beef Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
2. How much has the Paper Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
3. How much has the Coal Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
4. How much has the Sugar Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
5. How much has the Oil Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
6. How much has the Tobacco Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
7. How much has the Steel Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
8. How much has the Insurance Trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
9. How much have the national banks contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?
10. How much have the six great railroad trusts contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

Concerning these questions Mr. Roosevelt has maintained a silence unbecoming one who claims to "stand at Armageddon and battle for the Lord." By his assistance not one of the questions has been answered. In the campaign which resulted in the election of Mr. Roosevelt Judge Parker made the charge that the trusts were supporting Mr. Roosevelt. Three days before the election Mr. Roosevelt denounced Judge Parker as a liar but evaded the facts.

A succession of investigations has revealed the following facts:

The insurance investigation showed that the Insurance Trust contributed $150,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

The Archbold testimony showed that the Standard Oil Trust contributed $100,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

The Harriman revelations showed that one of the six railroad groups contributed $260,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund which turned 50, 000 votes in New York City alone.

The Stanley investigation showed that the Steel Trust contributed to the Roosevelt campaign fund, one receipt for $10,000 having been produced.

This is all the information that has been acquired during the eight years since The World asked the ten questions. It would seem that a general in the "army of the Lord on the field at Armageddon" should speak out and answer the remainder of the questions.

HITS MOOSE TRAIL

Governor's train was more than an hour late. They whisked him to the Commercial Club, where a piping hot breakfast awaited. After the discussion of it the hosts heard a very good speech from their guest and cheered him with spontaneous enthusiasm.

"One of the distressing circumstances of our day," he said, "is this: I cannot tell you how many men of business, how many important men of business, have communicated their real opinions about the situation in the United States to me privately and confidentially. They are afraid of somebody. They are afraid to make their opinions known publicly, and they tell them to me behind their hand. That is very distressing. That means that we are not masters of our own opinion, except when we vote, and then we are careful to vote very privately, indeed.

"It is alarming that that should be the case. Why should any man in free America be afraid of any other man in free America? And when we have cleared the air and are free, then I believe that the collision of classes will cease and that there will begin to rise upon our horizon that sun which has not illuminated us for a long time, the sun. Of our common interest, the thing that unites us, the thing that vivifies, the thing that produces growth and fertility in our minds and our spirits. That is the reason that it is necessary in public speech to strike our straight, and strike out hard from the shoulder, not in order to damage anybody, but in order to do good to those who refuse to be benefited.

Business in Straightjacket

"The mystery of American economic life is why men who are the leaders in our economic development don't see that they are in a straightjacket. I don't wonder that they are sometimes mad. Madness generally goes with a straightjacket. And the encouraging side of it is that they are beginning to perceive that the United States Steel Corporation had to buy Mr. Carnegie out, because Mr. Carnegie organized his business, economized his process, ordered his plants, in much a fashion that he could beat every mother's son of them in manufacturing steel rails. He had the market, because he could legitimately undersell them, and they had to pay him, I don't know how many times, three or four times, the value of his property and of his business in order to get rid of him, in order not to be beaten by him in open.

"I have wandered abroad in this little talk of mine, but I simply wanted to show you the inside of my mind, so that there need be no misunderstanding between us, so that you wouldn't think I am one of those wild fellows running amuck because I know something is the matter and don't know exactly what. 'This is no Donnybrook Fair,' I have got my shillala, but I am not hitting every head I see. I have selected the heads, and if they'll only engage in a little hard thinking underneath the endangered craniums, they need not be bit at all."

Makes Short Address to Students

From the breakfast the Governor was taken to the University, where President Vincent introduced him to the 2,500 students and the members of the faculty, who gave him the college yell and applauded a 10-minute speech that had nothing to do with partisan politics, but contained a lot of sound advice regarding the duties of young men and women after they get through their studies.

Taft in Bad Company

In his parade ground speech Governor Wilson spoke of President Taft, which was considered rather remarkable, because the Governor has so studiously avoided personalities hitherto.

"I want to pay my tribute of respect to Mr. Taft," said he. "I think nobody who fully understands the facts will deny the patriotism, the integrity and the honesty of purpose of the man who sits in the White House.

"But he has fallen into bad company (laughter), but that is not his fault, for the company had been made for him already, when he came into office.

"If he has taken bad advice, it is because he has had advisers close around him, and can't hear what those further away are saying."

Hits Bull Moose Trust Plain

It was in his parade ground speech that Governor Wilson took occasion plainly to state his objection to the Bull Moose platform plank advocating restraint of Trusts by an industrial commission.

"I was indicted at Sioux City into an association by which I became a good Indian, but that has not bred in me the desire for scalps. I am only possessed with the passion to create a condition that will be even for everybody."

Progressive Plan Aid to Trusts

How the United States Steel Corporation incidentally would benefit by the plank in the Progressive party platform proposing regulation of Trusts by a Federal commission was argued as follows:

The method now proposed of regulating the Trusts was suggested in the inquiry by the House of Representatives into the Steel Trust, and it was suggested by Mr. Gary and Mr. George W. Perkins, he said. "They have thought this thing out. It may be, for all I know, that they honestly think that is the way to safeguard the business of this country. But whatever they think, this they know, that it will save the United States Steel Corporation from the necessity of doing its business better than its competitors. For if you will look into the statistics of the United States Steel Corporation you will find that wherever it has competitors the controls are decreasing; in other words, that it is less efficient than its competitors and its control of product is increasing only in those branches of the business where, by purchase and otherwise, they have a practical monopoly.

"Moreover, I have this to say to the working men. Carry out the plan of Mr. Gary and Mr. Perkins and you will have given a control in the market for labor, which will suit these gentlemen perfectly. They don't want competitors in the market for labor, because new competitors will mean new wage scales, and these are the very men and almost the only men who have successfully opposed union labor in the United States, and shut it out of their shops and bribed it to be content to the shut-out by all sorts of benevolent schemes of profit sharing, which a man would forfeit if he joined the union."

WEAVER REUNION

First Gathering Held Near Hummel

Station Saturday, September 14.

Saturday, September 14, 1912, will always be memorable in the annals of the Weaver families of Bedford and Huntingdon Counties, for on that day and date they held their first annual reunion under the old apple trees in the big orchard on the farm of Leonard B. Weaver, near Hummel Station. Five hundred would be a conservative estimate of the number of men, women and children present on that joyous occasion, a large majority of whom, either bore the honored name of Weaver, or are allied to the Weaver blood by birth or marriage.

Perfect order prevailed throughout the day—a fact that reflects great credit upon the large gathering.

The program consisted of addresses, recitations, vocal and instrumental music, egg race, wheelbarrow match and dinner. As to the quality of the dinner, it is enough to say that it was prepared by the deft hands, good taste and rare skill in the noble art of cookery of the matrons and maids of the various clans of the house of Weaver.

Dr. R. W. Alexander of Burnham delivered the opening address. For many years the doctor has enjoyed an intimate acquaintance with a number of the fine families of the large Weaver connection, and for that reason, spoke from personal knowledge and with marked emphasis and feeling of their excellent traits of character. He paid a just tribute to their industry, intelligence, thrift, hospitality, patriotism and morality, and closed his address with a stirring appeal to all present to cultivate the spirit of family pride, arguing with truth that a keen sense of family pride serves, on the one hand, as a strong incentive and stimulus to noble deeds and usefulness, and on the other, as a potent restraining influence against vice and crime.

Mrs. George Baker of Hummel, daughter of David Weaver, delivered the address or welcome in terms so clear and cordial that not only the Weavers and their kith and kin, but all the outsiders present felt that they were, indeed, welcome guests. Mrs. Baker's address was a happy blend of fine humor and good sense—one of its choice passages being that in which she referred to the Weavers as home-makers and home-lovers.

The next speaker was David B. Weaver of Saxton, one of the oldest members of the family present, and truly patriarchal in mind and manner. He is a man of wide and varied information. Nature endowed him with a mind of exceptional activity and vigor and, although well past the three score and ten, his mental faculties are as sound and alert as ever. While a farmer by occupation, he has been an extensive traveler and, all his life, a diligent student. He has made mineralogy and kindred subjects special objects of study. He was one of the pioneer explorers of the Yellow Stone Valley and one of the first to discover gold deposits in the Snowy Range Mountains, Mont. At the reunion he read an interesting paper in which he traced the history and genealogy of the Weaver family from its founders in this country down to the present day. We hope that his paper will be published in full in the near future, as it would be of much interest to the general reader and of great value to the numerous family whom it concerns.

One of the most pleasing features of the day was a recitation by Miss Kreiger of Entriken, a young lady of superior ability as an elocutionist.

A marked feature of the program was the closing address by Rev. Edward Homme, pastor of the Reformed Church of Marklesburg. Mr. Homme is a forceful speaker. He deplored and denounced the fierce greed for wealth and the inordinate fondness for pleasure so prevalent today, and with intense earnestness urged all to greater zeal, loyalty and activity in the service of the Divine Master who did so much for us—whose kingdom of peace, joy and love endure forever.

It is the earnest hope of the writer that when the Weavers rally to their next reunion, it may be his happy lot to be again one of their guests.

Better Paint

Better paint this year if your property needs it. Mistaken men have been waiting for paint to come down. The cost of their job has gone up not down; it always goes up by waiting; never comes down.

"Better paint than Devco? There isn't any."

Suppose one had waited 20 or 30 years ago for a better paint than Devco? How long would he have waited? How long would he still have to wait?

The price a gallon makes some difference; yes, but not much; it's the paint that counts; the quality counts.

It's the go-far that counts. Protection of property counts more yet. Better paint.

Jubilee Convention

The State Sabbath School Convention to be held in Philadelphia October 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1912, will be one of the greatest religious conventions ever held in the state.

The Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association was organized in Philadelphia May 28, 1862, and this year of Jubilee has brought forward an extraordinary program which will take four days to carry out.

The railroad rates are, a round trip for one fare and three-fifths, or if you can use mileage it will perhaps be more convenient.

The Bedford County Association is anxious that a large number of our workers take advantage of this opportunity. Bedford County is entitled to seat thirty delegates. Applications for delegate appointment and credentials should be made at once to J. Reed Irvine, the Corresponding Secretary, at Bedford.

The President of the Association, William C. Lysinger, desires to know if there are any persons residing in our county who have been actively engaged in Sunday School work, either as a teacher or an officer for fifty years continuously. Honor medals will be conferred on all such persons at the Jubilee Convention. Report to the Corresponding Secretary at once, if you have so served.

It is expected that 3,000 delegates will be in attendance at the Convention and fully 5,000 visitors. Delegate appointment must be secured through the County Association in which the delegate resides. Each accredited delegate will receive a souvenir convention badge, souvenir hand-book and a reserved seat ticket of admission to the Jubilee Musical Festival. The Musical Festival will be held in the New Convention Hall. A chorus of 10,000 voices and short addresses by Hon. Rudolph Blankenburg, Hon. John Wanamaker, Mr. H. J. Heinz and Marion Lawrence will be the features of this Festival, which will be held Tuesday evening, October 8.

The convention will be held in the Baptist Temple which seats 32,000 people. Noon-day meetings will be held each day from 12:15 to 1 in the Garrick Theatre and the best speakers will be heard at these meetings.

During the convention week the centennial of the War of 1812 and the One Hundred and Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the framing of the Constitution of the United States in Philadelphia in 1787 will be celebrated in a series of historic pageants in Fairmount Park, overlooking the Schuylkill River. Wednesday afternoon, October 9, has been set aside so that all delegates may have a chance to witness this lavish entertainment, participated in by 4,000 or 5,000 costumed people, troops of horsemen, bands of music and large choruses.

Mann's Choice Schools Open

The resignation at a late date of Prof. J. Kimber Grimm, principal, and of the assistant principal delayed the opening of the Mann's Choice schools, but they opened on Monday of this week with Prof. De Long, a graduate of the Kutztown Normal and Franklin and Marshall College, as principal, and John M. Lansinger, of Millersville, a graduate of the Normal at that place and a sophomore in Franklin and Marshall, as assistant principal; the other teachers being William A. Miller and Miss Shoenfelt.

The White Fly

State Zoologist H. A. Surface, at Harrisburg, recently received specimens of tomato leaves with insects attacking them, and an inquiry from a Berks County correspondent as to the nature of the pests and the treatment for them. The reply was as follows:

"The insect which you sent to us from your tomatoes is called 'The White Fly,' although it is not a fly and is as small as a gnat. I would recommend that you write to Washington, D. C., Division of Publications, Department of Agriculture, for their publication on this subject.

You can destroy it by spraying with one pound of whale oil soap in six gallons of water, or one pound of ordinary laundry soap in three or four gallons of water, or eight per cent. kerosene emulsion, or a strong tobacco decoction. Perhaps the latter will prove as good as anything you can use, and certainly will not be injurious to your tomato plants. You should use a short extension rod, such as a gas pipe about three feet long, with a bend on the end of it, so as to turn the nozzle in an upward direction, and strike the underside of the leaves.

This insect is generally not very destructive out-of-doors in this state, although it is a southern garden pest of no little importance. It is, however, a greenhouse pest which is often quite destructive to greenhouse plants, and it demands the careful attention of the florist or grower. It is controlled by spraying applications as well as by fumigation. In a greenhouse, where the building can be closed, it is not difficult to keep the pest in check by fumigation methods, which are generally well known to the greenhouse man, and for which directions are sent from this office on application."

Report Not True

Bedford, Pa., Sept. 16, 1912. To whom it may concern:

It has come to my knowledge that in certain parts of Bedford County, certain rumors relative to my friend, the late Ex-Sheriff Price, are afloat, purporting to be to the effect that a confession relative to a certain election held in Bedford County had been made to me, his pastor and minister. I wish to say, and very emphatically, that Ex-Sheriff Price never made a confession to me on the above matter. Any statement to the contrary can be taken up by any of his friends and I will be glad to give evidence in any court within this or any other Commonwealth.

Smallest of Snakes.

The hair snake, the smallest of all creatures bearing the name of snake, is found in water, and is responsible for many a heated discussion in rural districts, where the common belief is that it originates from horse hair. This theory is all a myth—horse hair snakes are parasites living inside of crickets and grasshoppers, upon leaving which they seek the water to lay their eggs.

EARLY COLONIAL HOUSES.

Some Had Inner Stone Walls to Resist the Indian Raiders.

In America the early colonists had little use for the mason's art, except in the construction of the huge chimney stacks which in any dwelling of considerable size and any pretensions to comfort formed a very considerable part of the structure. The great kitchen fireplace and oven, with smaller hearths in from two to four rooms on each floor, required a very considerable part of the material and skilled labor bestowed upon a colonial homestead in the more northern colonies.

In some sections where the dangers of an attack by Indian raiders were imminent, the wooden walls of the lower story inclosed a stout wall of brick or a kind of rubble masonry. Some of these buildings are still standing and inhabited, although dating back (at least so far as the lower stories are concerned) over two centuries. A very few brick buildings have wholly or in part come down to us from the first years of colonization, and until within the last half century some that preserved the peculiar features of Elizabethan and Stuart types of dwelling and business structures. Much of the brick and about all the great flooring tiles and ornamental tiling were at first imported from Europe, but lime and brick of good quality were soon produced in almost every community.—Charles Winslow Hall in National Magazine.

Love Will Find a Way.

The young couple hastened into the union station. It was very patent that they were not married. They were altogether too clumsy for that. They went out onto the platform and stood and talked for a minute, when he took her in his arms and kissed her fondly and again hurried away toward a train.

"What do you think of that?" inquired one of the attaches of the station.

"That looks all right. Why?"

"They do that three or four times a week. They think that everybody else will think that he is going away on a long journey, but he has never got on a train yet. He simply walks around back of the train and disappears. He gives his kiss all right, though."—Louisville Times.

Minuteness of an Atom.

Mr. Oliver Lodge once gave a striking illustration of the minuteness of the atom. The amount of gold in sea water, although very small, seems considerable when stated in atoms, for a single drop of sea water contains 50,000,000 atoms of gold. That figure, however, indicates merely one-fiftieth of a grain in a ton of sea water, and it would take 100,000,000 atoms to be visible under a microscope of the highest power.

U. A. Smith, Bridgeton, Ind., had kidney trouble for years, and was so crippled with rheumatism he could not dress without help. He started using Foley Kidney Pills, and says: "I began to get better at once, and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well all night and though 55 years old, can do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills." Refuse substitutes. Ed. D. ## SHIPS AS THEY SINK.

Their Trip to the Bottom and What Happens Afterward.

What becomes of the ship that sinks in midocean? If it is of wood it takes, in the first place, considerable time for it to reach the bottom. In a hundred or more fathoms of water a quarter of an hour will elapse before the ship reaches bottom. It sinks slowly, and when the bottom is reached it falls gently into the soft, oozy bed, with no crash or breaking.

Of course if it is laden with pig iron or corresponding substances or if it is an iron ship it sinks rapidly and sometimes strikes the bottom with such force as to smash in pieces. Once sunken a ship becomes the prey of the countless inhabitants of the ocean.

They swarm over and through the great boat and make it their home. Besides this they cover every inch of the boat with a thick layer of lime. This takes time, of course, and when one generation dies another continues the work until finally the ship is so laden with heavy incrustations, corals, sponges and barnacles that if wood the creaking timbers fall apart and slowly but surely are absorbed in the waste at the sea bottom.

Iron vessels are demolished more quickly than those of wood, which may last for centuries. The only metals that withstand the chemical action of the waves are gold and platinum, and glass also seems unaffected. No matter how long gold may be hidden in the ocean, it will always be gold when recovered, and this fact explains the many romantic and adventurous searches after hidden submarine treasures lost in shipwrecks.

YOUR KIDNEYS NEED CLEANING

Every Person, Healthy or Unhealthy, Ought to Give the Kidneys a Thorough Cleaning Right Now.

You clean your teeth daily. You wouldn't think of doing otherwise, and yet the teeth are not one-tenth so important to health, strength and a long life as the kidneys.

Do you know that the kidneys are little strainers or fine sieves, through which every drop of blood in the body passes again and again? And when the kidneys become clogged they are unable to strain the impure matter from the blood, and it stays in the blood and causes disease in various parts of the body. Take rheumatism, for instance, this terrible disease is caused by uric acid in the blood, and uric acid gets into the blood only when the kidneys are clogged up and are unable to properly strain the impurities.

Just go to Ed. D. Heckerman today and get a bottle of Thompson's Barosma, the most scientific kidney, liver and bladder regulator the world has ever known, take it regularly for two weeks, and all the impure matter in your kidneys will pass out through the bladder, and your kidneys will be as pure and clean and healthy as any kidneys can be.

Thompson's Barosma is guaranteed by Ed. D. Heckerman to cure all diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder, or money back. It is a wonderful tonic and blood purifier, and will bring the glow of health to the cheeks of the sick in a short time. 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

What Dress Is to Woman.

Fashion is woman's literature. Dress is the expression of her personal style. By dress she conveys the outward expression of her taste, of her skill, and even of her aesthetic individuality. It is thus that she contrives to charm the eyes of the arts, the art containing all the others. It is not the expression of her characteristic style, as we have said, but it is her palette, her poem, her theatrical setting, her song of triumph.

Make No Excuses.

We can wrest success from any failure and take from it much of the sting when we frankly admit that it was our fault, and that we have no excuse to offer, while at the same time we express our purpose not to fail in that way again. The world is quick to forgive the man who does not ask to be excused. God can forgive us on no other terms; and God's forgiveness is the only way to assured victory over failure.—The Sunday School Times.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 22, 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark vi, 30-44. Memory Verses, 41, 42—Golden Text, John vi, 35—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The words of verse 30 are most practical and remind us of our great privilege of telling all that we do and teach to Jesus, receiving our messages from Him and trusting Him to work in us to will and to do of His good pleasure. It is the old lesson of Prov. iii, 6, "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths," and the new one of Phil. iv, 6, 7. There is nothing like talking it all over with Him both before and after. I am always reminded by this verse in our lesson of a little book entitled "Tell Jesus," by Anna Shipston.

The words "No leisure so much as to eat" (verse 31) give us some idea of His day by day busy, crowded full life, for others, seven days a week, even on the Sabbath day (Mark i, 21-31; Matt. xii, 12; John ix, 4, 14), for he taught that it is lawful to do well on that also. Our own words or words are not lawful on that day (Isa. lviii, 13, 14), neither do they count at any time. "Come apart and rest awhile" does sound refreshing to a weary one, but we shall see how they rested. When the people knew that He had started across the sea they ran afoot out of all cities and outwent them, and when Jesus came He saw much people and was moved with compassion and received them and, as was his custom, spake unto them of the kingdom of God and healed them that had need of healing (verses 33, 34; Luke ix, 11). May the mention of the kingdom always lead us from the heart to say "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven" (Matt. vi, 10), for less than that will not be the kingdom of God. John tells us that it was Passover time, and that also suggests a phase of the kingdom, for at the last Passover, Jesus said, "I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God" (Luke xxii, 16). That will be the time of Israel's restoration at the beginning of the millennial kingdom.

As the day began to wear away the disciples came to Jesus, asking Him to send the multitudes away that they might buy themselves bread, and, to their astonishment, He said: "They need not depart. Give ye them to eat." To prove Philip He asked him, "Whence shall we buy bread that these may eat?" For He Himself knew what He would do, as He always does, for He is perfect in knowledge, and every purpose of His shall be performed (John vi, 5, 6; Job xxxvi, 4; Jer. ii, 29). Philip might wisely have replied, Lord, Thou knowest; Thou didst feed many thousands in the wilderness for forty years and there is nothing too hard for Thee (Jer. xxxii, 17). But Philip knew neither his Lord nor himself, and on the night before the crucifixion Jesus had occasion to say to him: "Have I been so long time with you and yet hast thou not known Me, Philip?" (John xiv, 9.) Philip's reply in our lesson story (John vi, 7) shows that he was capable of and evidently did some mental figuring, but to him the case was hopeless.

Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, somehow found out that there was a lad in the company who had five barley loaves and two small fishes, and he ventured to mention it, but with no hope that they would be of any service. He said, "What are they among so many?" (John vi, 8, 9.) Jesus said, "Bring them hither to Me," just as He said concerning the lunatic boy at the foot of the mount of transfiguration, "Bring him hither to Me" (Matt. xv, 13; xvii, 17). The unfailing remedy for every trouble is Tell it to Jesus, Bring it to Jesus, for He said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Having made the multitude sit down in companies by hundreds and fifties on the green grass (verses 39, 40), He took the loaves and the fishes and looked up to heaven and gave thanks, blessing the food, and then gave it to the disciples to pass on to the multitudes. There would be at least fifty companies of a hundred each or a hundred companies of fifty each, so the disciples had enough to do to make them forget themselves for awhile. We might like to know how He could divide five loaves and two fishes among twelve disciples and how much each had to start out with and just how the food multiplied as they gave it out, but we are not told and so must leave it. We are told that they did all eat and were filled, 5,000 men besides women and children (Matt. xiv, 21), and that twelve baskets full of the fragments were gathered up when all was over. A little later He fed 4,000 men with seven loaves and a few little fishes, and they were filled and seven baskets of fragments gathered up (Matt. xv, 32-33; Mark viii, 1-9). Yet soon after when crossing the sea with His disciples they had only one loaf with them, they thought from something He said that He was upbraiding them for forgetting to take bread, seemingly forgetting the miraculous supply of the two great recent events (Mark viii, 13-21).

That which a little boy possessed was used on this occasion to abundantly satisfy more than 5,000 people. If we are as unreservedly in His hands as were the lad's loaves and fishes He will use us beyond our utmost thought.

VARIEGATED SPELLING.

Mark Twain Liked It Because It Was So Refreshing.

Writing in the Hartford Courant on "Mark Twain," Dr. Edwin P. Parker of Hartford said:

"In 1876, according to my memorandum, a notable spelling match took place at the Asylum Hill Congregational church, in which some thirty persons, under their respective captains, took part. Among these contestants were Dr. Burton, Judge Carpenter, Charles E. Perkins, Mr. Clemens, Mr. Twichell, Charles H. Clark, General Hawley, Miss Trumbull, Miss Blythe, Miss Burbank and Miss Stone. At last there were left standing only Dr. Burton and Miss Stone, and the gallant doctor took the first opportunity to make an error and so to leave Miss Stone the winner.

"But this notable contest was preceded by a preliminary speech in which Mr. Clemens wittily criticised the supposed necessity of having any uniform and arbitrary way of spelling words. Among several amusing illustrations of his argument was one as follows: 'I have a correspondent whose letters are always a refreshment to me, there is such a breezy, unfettered originality about his orthography. He always spells Kow with a large K. Now, that is just as good as to spell it in the conventional way with a small one! It is better, for it suggests to the mind a new, grand and impressive creature.'

"Nevertheless, in the contest that ensued Mr. Clemens produced no 'superb effects of variegated spelling,' but stood up among the last five, if my record is right, only Mr. Clark, Miss Keep, Dr. Burton and Miss Stone outlasting him."

MOTION OF THE EARTH.

It May Easily Be Demonstrated by a Simple Method.

It is quite possible to prove that the earth revolves on its axis by a simple experiment and without having recourse to mathematics. Take a good sized bowl, fill it nearly full of water and place it upon the floor of a room which is not exposed to shaking or jarring from the street.

Sprinkle over the surface of the water a coating of lycopodium powder, a white substance which can be bought at almost any drug store. Then upon the surface of this coating of powder make with powdered charcoal a straight black line, say, an inch or two inches in length and lying north and south.

Having made this little black mark with the charcoal powder on the surface of the contents of the bowl, lay down upon the floor a stick or some other straight object, so that it shall be exactly parallel with the mark.

Leave the bowl undisturbed for a few hours and then notice the position of the black mark with reference to the object that it was parallel with. It will be found to have shifted its direction and to have moved from east to west—that is to say, in a direction opposite to that of the movement of the earth on its axis.

The earth in simply revolving has carried the water and everything else in the bowl around with it, but the powder on the surface has been left behind a little. The line will always be found to have moved from east to west, which is good proof that everything else has moved the other way.

No More Smiling.

The new vicar was paying a visit among the patients in the local hospital. When he entered ward No. 2 he came across a pale looking young man lying in a cot, heavily swathed in bandages. There he stopped, and, after administering a few words of comfort to the unfortunate sufferer, he remarked in cheering tones:

"Never mind, my man, you'll soon be all right. Keep on smiling; that's the way of the world."

"I'll never smile again," replied the youth sadly.

"Rubbish!" ejaculated the vicar.

"There isn't no rubbish about it!" exclaimed the other heatedly.

"It's through smiling at another fellow's girl that I'm here now."—Pearson's Weekly

His Eloquence.

The curate of a country parish lately preached a charity sermon, and the collection which followed amounted to £20 7s 4½d. In the vestry after the service the churchwardens counted it out and mentioned the result. "Well," said the reverend preacher, "I must have preached pretty well to get all that."

"No doubt you did, sir," replied one of the churchwardens who had been collecting, "but the squire put in a £20 note, and he's deaf!"—London Mail.

Unreluctantly.

"Ralph Darnley called again last night, Bessie, didn't he? You know, he's rather well off, so I hope you didn't treat him awfully," said mamma.

"Indeed I didn't, mamma. I was very much drawn to him—very much," she answered, with a blush.

A Hardship.

"They talk of hardships," said an Irish soldier as he lay down to sleep on the deck of a transport, "but, be-land, this is the hardest ship I was ever in in my life!"

Health and an Umbrella.

"A man's health is something like an umbrella. When once lost it is hard to get back, but when worn a little it may be recovered."

Speak with the speech of the world, think with the thoughts of the few.—John Hay.

Hair Falling?

You certainly cannot lose your hair and keep it, too. Which shall it be? Lose? Then do nothing. Keep? Then use Ayer's Hair Vigor. That is about all there is to it. Ayer's Hair Vigor is also a splendid hair-dressing and hair-tonic. It keeps the hair soft and smooth and greatly promotes its growth. It does not color the hair. Consult your doctor freely. Doctors are studying these hair questions much more than in former days.

Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Cheerful For Him.

Not long ago a stock of crockery was sold at auction, and Mrs. Wilson attended the sale. When she returned her face was radiant with joy.

"You must join the cremation society," were the first words she said to her husband.

Mr. W.—What for?

Mrs. W.—I've bought such a lovely vase to hold your ashes! You have no idea how it will set off the mantelpiece.

Her Gentle Hint.

Bore—Some one must have been joking Miss Borens about me and told her I owned the street railway system here. Bore—What makes you think so? Bore—Why, I was out to call on her last night, and every time she heard a car she said, "There comes your car, Mr. Bore."—Judge.

The Laws.

"I care not who makes the country's laws," said the "sharp" lawyer.

"If what?" his colleague asked.

"If they continue to put in verbiage that may be variously interpreted!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Especially.

The preacher—We never realize the full value of anything until we lose it. The bereaved widow—That's so, especially if the lost thing is insured.

Poor Opinion of Papa.

Little Elsie (after being punished)—I think papa is dreadful. Was he the only man you could get, mamma?—Boston Transcript.

Protecting Grapes From Bees

State Zoologist H. A. Surface, at his office in Harrisburg, has received several letters asking how to protect grapes from bees. One writer from the central part of Pennsylvania says, "They are ruining them as soon as they become thoroughly ripened. Can the grapes be removed and kept wrapped in paper or packed in sawdust?" The reply of Professor Surface is as follows:

"You can protect grapes from bees by either putting bags around the clusters, or wrapping them up, and laying them away. The bees do not attack the grapes until after their skins have burst or are weakened by disease, or are opened by some insect like the wasp or yellow-jacket, and after the grapes have become bruised or opened the bees will, of course, clean them out. Pick them before they become over-ripe or burst and they will keep as well wrapped up and laid away."

Billion Eggs Now in Cold Storage

Uncle Sam's crop report experts at Washington have been taking an egg census. They announced on Wednesday that although there were only 1,119,096,000 eggs in cold storage at this time last year, there are now in the warehouses awaiting consumption some time next winter when prices get high enough to induce the "egg kings" to dispose of them, exactly 1,173,133,800 eggs. This is an increase over last year of some 64,000,000 eggs. If the prediction of a western expert that eggs will reach the price of five cents apiece come true the warehouse men would be able to sell their product for $58,656,690, not including millions of eggs that will be gathered and put in storage before cold weather comes.

THREE GALA DAYS

thousand school children of the city with those of the country surrounding the city will parade before the President and other statesmen. They will represent the countries whose people figured in the early discovery of America, the thirteen colonies and all the states of the Union. A thousand children will form a human flag and will be guarded by several hundred boys attired as soldiers and sailors. In the afternoon a reception will be tendered President Taft and Governors at the tented auditorium, and this will be followed by patriotic exercises commemorating the famous Altoona conference of Governors on September 24, 1862. Speeches will be made by numerous distinguished statesmen and children will sing patriotic songs.

Thursday will be marked by a civic and industrial parade, one that will mark the progress of the times for the past half century. Not only will it be participated in by local business and manufacturing establishments, but by those from the outside world. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will have one division in the parade, and it will be one that will be marked with interest, for it will demonstrate the progress made in railroad building since the institution of the great corporation, whose great railroad shops are located in Altoona and credited with being the greatest and finest in the world. It will have in the procession the famous exhibit that made the "Founder's Day" celebration in Philadelphia of greater interest. It includes the famous old John Bull engine, the first locomotive it owned, the first cars it ran over its line, a Conestoga wagon drawn by mules wearing the old time harness of its day, and in addition there will be floats representing the progress in the work in building locomotives and cars. From the beginning to the end of the parade there will be elaborate and interesting floats of all descriptions. The celebration will end with the dawn of the evening, and Altoona people hope that it will be the forerunner of a perpetual memorial for the famous loyal war governors' conference of Civil War days.

Company L, 8th Regt., N. G. P., of this place will participate in the parade on Wednesday, and Bedford Lodge No. 436, K. of P., will be in the line of parade Thursday. Special trains will leave Bedford Wednesday and Thursday mornings at 6:30, and arrive in Altoona about 8:25. Returning, special train will leave Altoona Wednesday night at 10 o'clock. There will be no special train returning Thursday, passengers returning on regular train leaving Altoona at 4:05 and arriving at Bedford at 5:50.
